

Fifty-eight To Graduate From County High Schools

Memorial Day Parade To Start From Legion Hall At 10 A. M. Sharp

The American Legion Post 106 Memorial Day parade will begin at 10 o'clock sharp at the Legion Building on US-27, according to Legion Commander Ralph Hoffmann. Participating in the parade this year will be the Legion members, the Grayling High School Band, the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts.

A presentation of flags from the Legion to the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts will be made before the parade gets under way.

Homer King, in charge of the Color Guard, would like as many Legion members in uniform as possible, to be at the Legion Building at 9 o'clock, at the latest.

Tony Nelson, parade marshal, will lead the line of march at 10 o'clock from the Legion Building to the City Park, at the US-27 bridge, where services for those who died at sea will be conducted by acting Legion Chaplain John MacAuley.

The parade will continue on north on US-27 to the old cemetery, where Legion officers will fall out to place a wreath on the grave of the unknown soldier. The parade will then proceed to the new cemetery, where the Rev. Harold Knutson will be the speaker and assist the Legion to conduct services for all war veterans who have passed on. The line of march will then retrace its way back south on US-27, stopping at the hospital, to come to attention while the school which plays a number, then proceeding back to its point of beginning.

New Checking Plan Introduced By Bank

"The Budget Checking Plan" is being introduced at the Grayling State Bank on Saturday, June 1st. This plan is for personal use only but provides a real service for those who do not wish to carry a substantial balance in their account, bank officials explained.

Any person may open a checking account with a bank simply by purchasing twenty checks for two dollars. No minimum balance is required and no further charges are made on the account, it was pointed out. Statements are issued on this type of account each ninety days.

This new system makes it as easy to have a checking account for the person who doesn't desire to carry a balance as for the one that does, bank officials said. Under the method, the holder of the new checking account writes personal checks instead of money orders and has a cancelled check as proof of payment. Deposits to the account may be mailed to the bank if it is the desire of the person holding the account. The budget type of checking account has met with popular acclaim throughout the country and it is the hope of the Grayling State Bank that the people of Grayling and Crawford County will give favorable acceptance to it also.

Resident Of Nearly 60 Years Ago Visits

Mrs. Jeannette E. Signa of Santa Cruz, California was a visitor in Grayling last week. Mrs. Signa may be remembered by long time residents as Jeannette Evans, who formerly made Grayling her home. She left here in 1900.

She recalled that Rev. Willis was the pastor of the Methodist church at the time as she reminisced of the old days in Grayling, of the old homes and store buildings that have disappeared since she left here nearly 60 years ago.

Mrs. Signa was joined here by her cousin, Louise Woodworth Schneider of Rochester, New York. Mrs. Schneider is the daughter of the pioneer Doctor Woodworth who preceded Dr. Stanley Wesley in Grayling by about 25 years. Asa J. Rose was Mrs. Schneider's grandfather. Grayling's present Rose street was named for him, she said and explained that the Rose farm was where the doctor's office was located. The farm is located on Rose street led from downtown Grayling to the farm.

Dr. Woodworth and Mr. Rose were the first to establish a communications system in Grayling. Mrs. Schneider said a line was strung through the trees from the doctor's office which was located where the home of Mrs. Oscar Hanson now stands to the Rose farm. A pul of the line rang a bell in the doctor's office, Mrs. Schneider explained. One ring meant for the doctor to stop by during the day, two rings called for an immediate trip. There was severe illness in the Rose home at the time, the elderly visitor said. This was about 1898.

Mrs. Schneider told as she explained her great, great grandfather, Samuel Woodworth was the author of the famous "Old Oaken Bucket."

Mrs. Schneider also recalled when three masked men, members of a vigilante committee, called on Dr. Woodworth and told him to go to a tree near the present site of the airport to cut down a man the committee had strung up there.

Both ladies enjoyed their trip to Grayling immensely and found things here which recalled their youth in Grayling and the happy times of long ago.

A gown of plaid taffeta was worn by the bride, with a corsage of pink roses and white carnations. A reception was held at the Frederic Town Hall on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The couple are making their home in Frederic.

Last week I said goodbye to a dear old friend. Not the kind of friend that everyday run-of-the-mill friend, but a real honest-to-goodness friend of unquestioned loyalty, devotion and dependability. I was seldom away without this pal. He was with me on my wildest days, the thickest and the thinnest, always responding cheerfully to my sometimes immediate demands. But I guess I liked this friend best because he never gave me any trouble, any back talk, any difficulty. And he was intimately patient.

JP

(Before anyone starts to think that Jack Pine's wife has left him, I hasten to explain that the friend I am talking about is a blue six cylinder Chevrolet four door station wagon.)

JP

I didn't like him when I first saw him, but I wouldn't have liked any car at that precise moment. It all happened when Art Goodrich and the Chevrolet garage and I were in there just before Christmas with a car which I had been driving for three years. Art caught me with my wheel bearings down and out and there wasn't a blessed thing that he or anyone could do to get them fixed. I was pondering the fact that I had then two hours left to go. We had a lot to be glad about, he and I.

JP

"Wanna buy a new one?" said Art after a few moments. "XOXO" I said. "Whatcha got?" I asked.

"Just one wagon," he said. "Smitty, who had patiently been waiting around for one of us to do SOMETHING, went to get the car. It was a miserable plain blue job with only a side view mirror to brag the monotony. It had an automatic transmission and a heater and a decent price tag. Anyway, we made a deal, and Art agreed to put in a radio, a spotlight mirror combination and a few other odds and ends that I considered very important to my well-being. After I got back from Minneapolis, Right now I took it as is, and all he would do was fill the gas tank. (He forgot to, but then he was so tired, and I didn't have the nerve to go back and remind him of it. He still owes me that tank full.)

JP

But I still had one problem. I hadn't sold my wife. She was still waiting and the kids were tired, struggling and bored. As I walked into my house, I started to gather up her brood. But I told her to stay. "Wanna buy another car?" I asked. "At this point I don't care WHAT we do," she answered. "That's good," I told her. "You can look at what I got something to do. Art got it in the store. When I got back, she was busy moving our belongings from the old car to the new.

JP

As we drove through the night, the car performed magnificently, quietly, efficiently, comfortably. As the miles across the U.P. melted away, the whole incident took on a humorous aspect. With the funny, it was down town. When we got to Minneapolis, we traded cars because the ash trays on the old car were getting that station wagon over the following months, and the added accessories. I disposed the gloomy look of a plain blue car. Art told us that it gave us any trouble, just to bring it in. It never did, and the only time it saw the garage was for periodic check-ups, and lubrication. I took it in several times to have the alignment checked. Finally, one day, the mechanic adjusted it, but I think it was only because I kept insisting that it MUST be out.

JP

But now, my friend is gone now, sitting solemnly on Stevenson-Brown used car lot. I miss that station wagon; I really do. The one that took his place is a other wagon, and I don't trust him any more than he trusts me. My friend will have a new owner soon. The new brakes, the tune-up, the frame tightening and the like will have to sell him. I hope, honestly, that whoever gets him will treat him with respect. He is good, faithful, dependable, economical, and will take a fabulous amount of hard work without complaining. I hope his new owner is a local one that wagon likes this country, is used to it, and wouldn't be happy elsewhere.

JP

Why did I trade it off? you ask. I know right now. It was the best performing car I ever owned. Maybe the cash I was getting for it.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

May 20, 1957

MICHIGAN WEEK has stolen a little of the Washington spotlight from the federal budget. My office is decorated with a vivid yellow poster on which a red-robin chirps, "It's Great to Live in Michigan!" I've sent a four-pound gift package of our famous Michigan navy beans to President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and each United States Senator to remind them of the Week. Four beautiful Michigan queens, I am told, are on the way to Washington to visit members of Congress. And to further observe the occasion, my current weekly radio and television report is called "Meet the Michigan Press." On it, I am interviewed by a panel of top reporters who cover Congress for

YOU CAN DEPEND ON MY FUTURE BOSS

FOR THE BEST SERVICE IN TOWN

Michigan papers. As I said before the TV cameras, Michigan's achievements stem from the energy and creative abilities of her people and to me, Michigan Week calls for a very personal salute to 7,999,000 great citizens of a great state. SENATORS SLASHED mightily last week as they acted on money requests to run the various Government agencies. We shattered precedent by revealing ourselves even to the members of the House of Representatives. Undoubtedly out of all was reserved for the United States Information Agency which performs the task of telling America's story to the rest of the world. The President had budgeted $144 million to run the USA which the House chopped down to $106 million. As a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I voted to cut that to $90 million. Then on the Senate floor, a tidal-wave of cut-the-budget mail from home swept four-fifths of the Senators into line behind our $90 million figure. Soon a House-Senate conference will agree on a sum somewhere between $90 and $106 million. Funds for the Voice of America, USA's best-known and most dramatic effort, were kept intact.

Interested Farmers have been querying my office for the latest word on my bill to protect them from overplanting penalties and I'm happy to report that a subcommittee of the Senate Agriculture Committee has acted favorably on it. That gives it a fine chance of a prompt second reading by the full committee and a quick trip to the Senate floor. As the law now stands, a farmer may plant freely only fifteen acres of wheat. If he exceeds his marketing quota, he is penalized. My bill would remove all penalties for overplanting wheat when it is used on the farmer's own property for feeding or seeding. I am delighted at the number of farmers who have expressed support for this proposal.

More Ships and bigger ships are needed by 1959 when the St. Lawrence Seaway opens. As a start in that direction, I've introduced a resolution to sell twelve war-built vessels to private shippers. If it passes, up to a dozen C-4's, largest and fastest cargo vessels built during World War II, and easily converted to merchant use, will be available. Of course, the Government will be protected by a "recapture" clause in the event of war. Actually, these ships deteriorate less in use than they do when held in reserve in the past iron ore, coal, grain and other bulk cargo provided the tonnage between Great Lakes ports. When the Seaway opens, there will be a need for deep-draft capacious vessels to move agricultural machinery, automobiles, electrical supplies and other general cargo. It is important to have American ships available for if we don't, foreign lines will get first crack at that lucrative tonnage.

Good Progress has been made by another maritime measure — my bill to encourage ship-building at our Lakes shipyards. At this writing, it awaits action by the Senate floor. It would revitalize the shipbuilding industry in our area by authorizing the construction or reconstruction of vessels at Great Lakes ports. A new vessel typically is specially designed for Lake and foreign trade, will soon be built under Maritime Administration contract and my bill opens the way for Michigan yards to get those contracts. A Legislative Frank made Lansing Michigan's capital. Back in 1847, when Detroit was the capital city, worried legislators figured that its border position exposed it to foreign invasion and wrangled for months over selection of a new capital. Finally, with a chuckle, some on suggested Lansing, consisting of one log house and one sawmill in the middle of the wilderness. For want of a better location, and amid general laughter, the legislators voted aye. This is not the only time a light-hearted gesture proved foresighted.

Best Wishes

Charles E. Potter, United States Senator.

Voters Get A Chance In 1958 To Rewrite Michigan's Constitution

VOTERS WILL GET A chance in 1958 to rewrite the constitution which has guided Michigan's state government since 1908.

Whether to call a constitutional convention will automatically go on the November, 1958 ballot.

Dozens of major amendments have been made to the constitution in the last 50 years, including state civil service, sales tax distribution and reapportionment of the legislature.

The latter, adopted in 1952, is the crux of a new fight between political parties and will, in effect, determine the makeup of a constitutional convention if the voters order it.

Under another section of the constitution, a convention to write the basic law is composed of three delegates from each state senatorial district.

Democrats already are fighting for the 1952 amendment created "balanced legislature," with the House (110 members) representing people or population and the Senate (34 members) representing areas.

Democrats charge that a constitutional convention will be peopled by Republicans because traditionally outstate voters send Republicans to the Senate.

Republicans retort that the voters approved the reapportionment amendment in 1952, thus tacitly agreeing to the procedure for electing delegates to a constitutional convention.

Despite their hold on the Senate and the makeup of a convention, the Republicans are fearful that any rewrite of the constitution might upset the reapportionment process.

Civil service, in effect since 1941, has a growing number of critics, and its champions fear a vote Michigan hires its 27,000 employees would be changed.

One major point: No legislator may be a delegate to a constitutional convention, placing Michigan's government for a time squarely in the hands of the voters.

And, under the present constitution, the voters have a chance to vote automatically for or against a constitutional convention — every 16 years.

EXPERTS IN LOCAL PROPERTY valuation will help fix property tax rates next year.

Gov. Williams has signed into law a bill reorganizing the state board of equalization to include two new members, recognized experts in the fields of rural and urban property tax assessment.

The bill was sponsored by Senator John Smeekens (R-Cadillac), a former member of a county board of supervisors who listened to the wocs of local taxpayers.

"We will now have men on the board who know the local problems," he said.

The two new members will replace the state auditor general and the director of agriculture. Enactment of the law came too late for the change to take effect this year. The board approved a 10 per cent across-the-board increase, totaling $70,000,000 in new local property taxes.

Meeting adjourned.

R. M. Hayes, Secretary-Manager.

A vote of thanks was extended to the above guest members present by the board. Their attendance and their interest was a welcome addition. From these members came two good ideas that will add to the chamber's promotion activities. All other members please note that because of the success of our first invitation for members to attend board meetings, this policy will be continued. You members, five at a time, will be called on the Wednesday morning of the meeting and extended an invitation to attend a board meeting. Your ideas and suggestions are needed.

IN HONORED MEMORY

Beyond Mere Humans . . .

Raymond Moley held high rank and was a powerful figure in the early years of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Presidency. At that time, he believed in economic planning and regulation by the government.

He has since changed his views. Writing in News Week, he tells why: "This was due to the conviction, which grew with close association with those charged with the power of government from the President down, that while planning is a grand idea, it assumes a wisdom and skill which mere humans can never attain. The safety of the individual is attained only when economic decisions are the product of an infinite number of individual judgments, and the power of government is kept close to the people through decentralization."

Decisions of that kind can be reached only in a free society whose economic system is based upon the free market.

Our city park system is now well equipped with hose and sprinklers and all are being kept busy. The new park lots have been nicely seeded to good lawn seed and it is beginning to come out. What up to this week was nicely leveled but barren land will, in a few days, be a bright green carpet of grass. A number of our citizens are taking enough interest in the sprinkling to take time to change the sprinklers frequently.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Peterson are entertaining Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Labine of Detroit. They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. Renner.

Small forest fires threatened the cottages at McIntyre's landing at Lake Margrethe the first of the week. They were extinguished with little damage by CCC men and neighbors. Large fires were seen northwest of Frederic Wednesday. The woods are dry and fires start easily. Better be taking extra precautions.

T. P. Peterson is driving a new Oldsmobile Six, purchased from Alfred Hanson, dealer.

Guests at the McClanahan Lodge over Decoration Day, were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pratt and son of Mt. Pleasant.

Yesterday, Memorial Day, survivors of America's wars turned out under the auspices of the Grayling American Legion Post No. 106 in grand style to honor the war dead on the 66th anniversary of the first Memorial Day. The procession formed at the Legion Hall at 9:30 o'clock and came in the following order: The colors carried by Stanley Valentine of Beaver Creek and Harry Horton of Frederic, with Frank Decker and Orel Levan as color guards, in charge of Sgt. Clarence Johnson. Next Grayling band with Little Teddy Bill Cody as drum major, and followed by veterans of the Spanish-American war. Next came a large turnout of ex-service men of the World War in charge of Capt. Nestor of Camp Higgins. Marching beside him was Lt. Shovlar. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary followed and then the Boys Bugle and Drum corps led by Harold Edwards. Last but not least was a large group of school children carrying flags and this last feature made a very pleasing sight. Frank Bond, teacher, had charge of the school children and they made a very fine showing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoffman of Lansing came for Memorial Day and the latter is staying over until Sunday, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Albert Roberts.

Mrs. G. A. Kraus and daughters Lois and Elaine of Chicago, arrived Sunday and are spending the summer at their cottage at Lake Margrethe.

At a meeting of the Township Board Thursday, May 24, a delegation from the Civic League appeared to discuss plans to improve the appearance of the cemetery. It was agreed by all present that such a project was badly needed. With little money to work with the board is handicapped in giving material assistance and with this in view it was decided to call a mass meeting at the Court House Wednesday, June 6, to discuss plans to give permanent care to the lots. Lot holders and every one interested are urged to attend the meeting and have a voice in this very pertinent question.

Phyllis Morris, age 10 years, was the victim of a peculiar accident Friday after school, and as a result received a badly bruised right hand. Deputy Sheriff Frank May had driven up in front of his home and got out of his car and gone into the house. His car coasted down the hill crossing the road and was headed for an electric pole. Phyllis and Patricia Morfour playing nearby thought they could prevent it from striking the pole, so Patricia took hold of the rear of the car and Phyllis got in front, and as it landed against the pole it caught her hand. Jerking back after the impact it knocked Patricia down but she was unhurt. Mr. May came out of the house in time to see the accident, and immediately took the injured girl to Mercy hospital, where she had her hand dressed. Phyllis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmidt spent the week end in Detroit. On their return they were accompanied by the former's cousin, Ray Warner, who will spend the summer at the Holger Schmidt home.

46 YEARS AGO

June 1, 1911

Attorney J. B. Ross of West Branch was in town last Friday on business at the court.

John Johnson and wife came up from Lansing and the daughter Helen from her school at Gaylord Saturday, for a little visit.

About four hundred and fifty pupils of our school enjoyed almost a half holiday last Monday, with a sort of lawn fete and love feast under the shade of the trees on the school grounds.

Messrs. D. E. and W. R. Matheson of the Roscommon Herald, with Prof. Gail, principal of the high school, and Messrs. Harry McConkey, Burton Orcutt, H. J. DeWaele, E. A. Gaffney, Bert Rose and A. J. Price, all of that village, drove up to the "only town on the map" in two cars on Tuesday to see our boys wallow the Schems of Saginaw on the diamond, the second time this week. They seemed nearly as pleased as our own bunch with the result.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chalker came down from Maple Forest for Decoration Day and took a little time after to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hanson, Mrs. Godfrey Jorgenson and her daughter will leave next Saturday morning for New York City, from where they will start June 6 across the "pond" for Denmark, for a summer visit. They expect to be home about September 1st. Favorable winds and quiet waves are hoped for the passage.

T. E. Douglas is erecting a garage for his auto near the store in Lovells, where it will be easy to get at.

Mrs. W. Havens and family were made happy last Saturday by the arrival of her sister, Mrs. Nettie McKone and her daughter Edna from Cedar Springs for an extended visit.

Don't Feed Inflation . . .

In March the government's cost of living index rose to a new all-time high for the seventh consecutive month. The increase over March of 1956 was substantial—3.7 percent.

This simply means that inflation has again become a very real domestic problem — and that every effort must be made to avoid anything that will feed inflation what is left of the dollar's value is to be preserved.

An example of inflation-feeding legislation is the proposal to extend the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act generally known as the wage-hour law) to retail businesses. Retailing, along with other service businesses, was exempted by Congress in 1938 and later, in 1940, Congress again affirmed its intent that local business should not be subjected to this act.

All retail stores—including the outlets of the chain—local enterprises. They serve a limited, local community. A store succeeds or fails depending on how well or poorly it meets local needs, desires and conditions. The wages it pays, like the selling prices it gets for its stocks, are largely determined by the local competitive situation.

In addition, the wages and earnings of retail workers must be related to skill requirements and to productivity. Retailing offers work to part-time employees, to beginners, to the unskilled—and the value of such employees is very limited. So an arbitrary minimum wage that took no account of productivity would force retailers to pare this kind of employment to the limit, and deprive many people of an opportunity to acquire skills.

Finally, retail profits are so small now that it would be impossible for stores to absorb cost increases. The increases would have to be passed on to the consumer—and more inflation would follow. In this field minimum wage legislation, when needed, should be the province of local units of government which know local needs and conditions.

Graduates of 1957. May we join your many friends in extending our best wishes for your future success and happiness.

Answer to Puzzle No. 447

Letters To The Editor

Mrs. Arleen Barker and Carolyn received two letters from Mrs. Barker's sister, Mrs. Lottie Grohman of Lansing and now in Calcutta, India. Mrs. Grohman is also a cousin of Dr. Stanley A. Stealy. She has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Jones since last December, 1956. The Jones family of Harrisburg, Pa., have made Calcutta their home since July, 1955, and will be stationed there until this July, 1957. Mr. Jones, a geologist has been working in the interest of Underground Water Control under the Federal government program.

Calcutta, India
April 26, 1957

Dear Arleen and Carolyn:
Is it hot? or what? 95 degrees F. yesterday and today it is 100 degrees F. I am sending you a snapshot of myself and the Taj Mahal Agra. I hope you have a magnifying glass to see the fine markings around the dome. The Taj was built by Emperor Shah Jahan as an immortal tribute to the memory of his wife Mumtaz Mahal. Took 22 years to build. 1630-1653 A.D. She had 14 children by him and died in childbirth. The English helped to build the formal gardens which are very beautiful. Where the cypress are now, used to be peach trees.

On top of the dome and also on the towers are ornaments of brass which the Moslems use on all buildings. If not brass, they are cement. Romaine has two lamps being made with ornaments of brass on them. I bought myself material for some dresses to be made. One is a German made green dot all silk and I also have a voile and a gray and yellow checked gingham which I will have made. The German all silk material, I gave 15 Rupees (3.15) and 11 Rupees for the voile. The Durzi, a man will make them. After you show him the pattern and style that you like and your measurements - given him - he makes the dress and does very nice work. I will keep the green silk to wear next fall. The heat is terrific, but one can't help it. It is hot in you.

step into the shade - there is a small breeze. Last night I sat on the veranda for two hours and every once in a while a cool breeze wafted my way. The reason - we had a thunder shower Monday night.

I wish I knew the names of all the flowers. I saw my first Lotus Blossoms at the market place this week. They said Sunday the Jasmine trees were in full bloom for Easter. Since Paul was to leave Monday morning for Nevelie, I did not have time to ask him to take us over there. It was too far in the heat. We also have real large trees in bloom, like our lilac bushes at home. Then one bush has a large, red flower like our tiger lily in shape and size. Across the road from our apartment are bushes with huge cream clusters. It makes a lovely sight. Well it's getting near time for home and we are crossing off the days on the calendar. Oh, well! I'll say Bye for now.

Sis
P. S. I read where our bridge is still going strong.
Calcutta, India.
May 9, 1957

Dear Ones:
Once more I am trying to "get thru the Suez". I am not flying home. Paul received word from Singapore that the President Monroe (U.S. Presidential Lines) had five vacant cabins, three berths each. So I leave Bombay June 2. It is the latter part of the world tour for the President Monroe and I have an outside cabin, Deck A. Paul will accompany me by plane on May 31st, for Bombay. After I embark, he will return to Calcutta. I go by way of Karachi, Suez, Port Said, Naples, Marseilles, Newark and reach New York July 4th.

Romaine and Paul give up their apartment here the end of June and go into the same hotel they lived in when they first came to Calcutta. They will fly back per schedule about the middle of July, via Rome, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, London and arrive in Detroit around July 24 or 25th.

I have asked Donald to meet me in New York. I know that is asking a lot. It is still very warmish. Today, it is 105 degrees F. We have had heat ever since March. Hope you are having hot days by now. I made None Such mince meat pies yesterday with a bit of brad. They were delicious, too. The last of the shipment from the States.

The Durzi made my dresses real nice and they fit very well. I went swimming yesterday. It was very nice and I have enjoyed the club so much. I won't find an answer from this letter. Tell Carolyn the best of luck on her graduation.

Bye,
As ever
Lottie

NOTE: Mrs. Grohman joined a swimming club in February. The club is sponsored by British and American friends of the Jones family in Calcutta.

Michigan is the fifth greatest industrial state in the nation. Michigan is the automobile center of the world. In value of shipments of passenger cars, Michigan stands first with 52.9% of America's total.

"As a matter of fact, I'll list him as a dependent. Any objections?"

This picture was made 1100 feet beneath the city of Detroit in one of the world's largest salt mines, the only such mine in Michigan. This state leads the nation in salt production and is one of the world's most important salt reservoirs.

Michigan, the nation's leading salt producer, also boasts one of the largest single salt mines in the world - beneath the city of Detroit.

From a maze of tunnels and caverns more than 1,100 feet below the city comes one-fourth of the state's salt production. A number of brine wells in other parts of the state account for the remaining output.

Detroit's subterranean mine has been in operation since 1910 and is the only one of its type in Michigan.

In addition to table use, which takes up only two per cent of U. S. salt production, various grades and sizes of salt find their way into some 14,000 uses, including food processing, industrial chemicals, refrigeration, and ice and dust control on highways.

In the Detroit mine, salt is blasted loose and the lumps are hauled to underground crushers where it is processed and stockpiled to await orders from the surface.

In the brine wells, underground salt deposits are melted loose with hot water and the resulting solution is pumped to the surface where the salt is settled-out and processed.

For many years, Michigan has been first nationally in salt production, averaging about 5,000,000 tons per year, or about 23 per cent of the U. S. market. New York, Ohio, Texas, Louisiana and Utah are other leading salt-producing states.

Most of lower Michigan is underlain with thick beds of salt in the form of "rock salt" layers. Geologically, southern Michigan's rock formations are shaped somewhat like a stack of saucers. Thus, the salt layers are found at shallower depths on the edges of the peninsula and at deeper depths near the center.

Home Extension News

The Penny Pinchers Home Extension group met Tuesday, May 21, for a dinner at Wharf's Dinner Bell, with eleven members present. They progressed from Wharf's to the home of Mrs. Jack Church, for dessert and coffee.

A short business meeting followed at which next year's officers were elected, as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Donald Bobenmoyer, council member, Mrs. May, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Kip Papendick, reporter, Mrs. Junior Palmer, recreation leader, Mrs. Barney Hunter, leader, Mrs. Earl Broadbent, assistant leader, Mrs. Ted Callahan.

Secretary-treasurer Mrs. Papendick gave the year's financial report. The balance on hand at the beginning of the year was $94.42. Dues and miscellaneous efforts and penny prizes amounting to $39.50 brought the balance to $48.92. Expenses for entertainment reduced the total to a present balance of $9.50. However, a balance sale is planned for June 15 at Peterson's Hardware. The proceeds for this will go toward one year to attend a home conference. Mrs. Earl Broadbent was presented a gift of appreciation at the close of the meeting.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank the medical staff, doctors, nurses and others for their kindness while I was in Mercy Hospital, and for the cards and remembrances.

DESIGNED FOR THE FUTURE

Low first cost with concrete

To take full advantage of the Federal aid road bargain for the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, the pavement must be superior concrete... which usually costs no more to build.

Don't be misled. Where lower cost is reported for other pavement, it was designed for lighter loads and shorter life, or extra cost of subbase preparation was not reported in the paving cost.

Wet or dry, concrete highways are safer: The gritty surface helps prevent skids, gives better traction. Concrete means easier driving, too, because its smooth surface eliminates jarring bumps and dangerous ruts.

Letters To The Editor

Detroit, Mich.
May 21, 1957

Dear Editor:

Enclosed M. O. for $3.50 for a year's subscription to the Avalanche to be sent to my son-in-law Carl Richter, Otsego, Mich., R. R. No. 1 as a Birthday gift. My first year's sub., was a Birthday gift to me from my mother a number of years ago. I have been sending my paper on to Carl for a long time but sometimes it has holes in it, where I've cut out some item. He in turn, at times gave his paper to his pal Chuck Owens; so you see someone got their money's worth! I'm sure Carl will appreciate getting a paper, complete and on time. Now I'll pass my paper on to relatives here in the city who are interested in the old home town.

I wonder if others would be interested in hearing of our Mother's Day gift. Our mother passed on in '48, but as a remembrance to her, around Mother's Day we each put in our bit for the Cemetery upkeep of the lot. I'm surely glad for this service available. Thanks to the City of Grayling.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Esther Hall
